Society of Economic Geologists St Andrews Chapter ~ Annual Report 2021-2022

To Whom It May Concern,

During this past year, the St Andrews Society of Economic Geologists Chapter undertook several activities to increase student membership and inspire students to learn more about economic geology. In the fall semester of 2021 amid Scotland's Covid-19 rules, I organized a bonfire with members of SEG as well as Staff. The bonfire was highly successful and a memorable moment for many SEG Members. In the Spring Semester, I organized for Dr. Denis Schlatter from Helvetia Exploration to come to St Andrew's and give a presentation on his research and career as an exploration geologist in Greenland. Denis visited St Andrews over a weekend in mid-April and began his visit by giving a talk to SEG members about working in Exploration Geology as well as his career as an Exploration Geologist and now Consultant. Denis then gave a wider talk to SEG Members/The Department the following day on his research and studies in Greenland. The University of St Andrews Department covered Dr. Denis Schlatter's accommodation cost as well as SEG sponsored a joint Wine & Cheese Networking Event following his second presentation. Regarding the total number of members with SEG for 2021-2022, we had 70 members.

This upcoming year 2022-2023, I hope to incorporate more networking events and conference events with economic geologists. From Denis Schlatter's visit, I received a lot of positive feedback from the SEG Student Body as well as found that it was a fantastic learning and inspirational talk for many SEG members. I have been in touch with Sean Johnson, a geologist from Boliden, and I am in the process of organizing to have him come to St Andrew's in the Spring to give a talk on his career. I have also been planning more interactive/fun events for members to meet each other this fall.

Best wishes,

Kalina Szemraj
